24 SHORTHORN BULLS SELL

For 26 years the Illinois Shorthorn Ass'n has annually staged the leading state association sale in the country. In that time 1,206½ bulls have grossed $554,107 to average $469. Nowhere else have such high quality cattle been offered as consistently.

In each of the last six years the Illinois Shorthorn Ass'n sale bulls have averaged more than $600 a head with tops ranging to above $2,000. There is only one reason for such steady demand. Illinois Shorthorn breeders are among the best and most progressive in the world. Annually they save their best for a sale in which they know they will be appreciated. By the same token, buyers from more than 40 states have journeyed to Illinois for this sale knowing that there would be a large number of bulls from which to choose . . . bulls that have gone on to earn enviable reputations.

For those who have to watch their dollar very carefully, but are still mindful of quality, Illinois is a top source. More than half the bulls in recent years have sold in the $500 bracket. And, they were far better than the $500 kind in many local sales. They were the good ones suffering from some of the fastest competition in the world.

If you are looking for stock bulls this year, come to where the good ones are . . . and where they have been for 26 years.

On Illinois beef performance test for 214 days, he weighed 558 pounds on his mother's milk and grass. He will weigh well over a ton when matured. This was the senior calf that Don showed last summer. She is a three-quarter sister to our first-prize junior yearling and our reserve champion in the junior show and to the first-prize group of three steers at the 1966 Illinois State Fair. Five half and three-quarter brothers' carcasses averaged 11.94 square inches of loin eye on live weight of 1052 pounds and 680 pounds dressed weight. Rib cover was .7 inches.

BROADLAND ARCHER 20th x—Sixteen months old by sale time, you can begin using this good red bull immediately and he should be ready to run with a small herd of cows by summer. Look at all of the good Polled Shorthorn breeding behind him.

Riola Vagabond Maid 3rd, grand champion female of the 1966 Illinois Shorthorn Sale, was consigned by Maurice Elmore & Sons, Catlin, Ill. She sold for $710 to Carusbrooke Farms, Inc., Peru, Ill.

17 SHORTHORN FEMALES SELL!

Anyone who has tried to purchase really outstanding Shorthorn females in the last few months will tell you how extremely difficult that job is. There are plenty of the foundation kind to be found, but getting their owners to part with them is something else again.

It's an established fact that we're on the upswing in the historic cattle cycle. Numbers are down and prices are up. The real improving females just aren't for sale since their owners want to increase the size of their own herds.

Nowhere else this spring in a consignment sale will you find as many of the right kind on which to build. And frankly, it wasn't easy to get them. Almost every one of the females entered came from groups previously selected for herd replacement. Only to insure the continuance of this great sale did the far-sighted Illinois breeders agree to part with these outstanding heifers.

Regardless of their cost, you would be wise to add one or two of these females this year. Bred to some of the most prepotent bulls in the land, the calves they are carrying will almost assuredly pay the initial investment and you'll have a profitable producing factory on your hands for years to come.

FERNWOOD MONA 3—An outstanding show heifer by the 1964 American Royal grand champion, Glastullich Roan Robin. A top show female and a foundation cow prospect. Sells open.

26 Polled Shorthorn Females Sell

How much is a real foundation female worth? Here's the story of one Illinois Polled Shorthorn breeder that provides a telling answer. In the early 1940's he purchased an open Polled Shorthorn heifer in an Illinois sale for $330 which, at the time, was considered a substantial price. The following year, after the cow had dropped a heifer calf, he was offered $1,000 for the pair which he wisely refused.

Over the years he was blessed with an abundance of daughters of this grand old matron who lived for 17 years. When the herd was eventually dispersed, more than $26,000 worth of Polled Shorthorns were sold that had descended from this one good cow alone.

Those of you who have been in Polled Shorthorn business for any length of time at all, know how quickly a few good ones will multiply into a sizable herd. Unfortunately, the mediocre ones multiply just as rapidly. The addition of just two or three of the quality females in this sale — regardless of price — can set you on the road to genuine breed improvement and wise investment for many years to come.

No distance is too great to travel when such a large array of quality Shorthorns and Polled Shorthorns will be offered.
